Mothering
Sunday

From the story of the two men meeting Jesus on their way to Emmaus, we get the idea that Christians ought to be a fellowship of burning hearts". When we came to know Jesus and as we continue to walk down life's road with Jesus, we ought to be able to say that our hearts "burn" within us as we experience and know him more. However, that burning can dwindle into an almost unnoticeable flicker if we let it. We can take him for granted, we can come to see our relationship with him only in terms of rules and regulations, traditions and customs, and we can live on somebody else's discovery of God. Are you relating to a mere idea, a notion, a concept or, are you relating to and experiencing the person of the Living God?

He invites us to "know" him, he invites us into the divine embrace of God, to personal intimacy with him - so why not answer that call today? He'll certainly be awaiting you with open arms.

Cheers, Nick
